Welcome!
We're excited to have you here.

Feel free to take your own personal tour on campus while you're here—there are many places to explore. Some spaces will give you a new perspective of campus while some will take you on a walk down memory lane. Enjoy!

A photograph of the Peter MacKinnon Building, a large, multi-story stone structure with a prominent arched window and a decorative cornice. The building is constructed from light-colored, textured stone blocks. A large, leafy green vine is climbing up the side of the building, partially obscuring the stone facade. The sky is a pale, overcast grey.

Peter MacKinnon Building

Designated a National Historic Site in 2001, the former College Building was the first building on campus and remains the focal point of campus life today. Walk the sloped green staircases that decades of students have walked before and marvel at the architecture, including the memorial ribbons honouring members of the university community who served in the First World War.

Location
105 Administration Place

The Bowl

Not much has changed to this landmark in over 100 years, but we wouldn't have it any other way. Much like Central Park in New York (maybe a far-fetched comparison?) alumni can breathe a sigh of relief knowing that this beautiful green space remains untouched by any building development. Kick a ball around, play some frisbee, or just lounge on the grass like the good old days.

Location

Just outside the main doors of the Peter MacKinnon Building

Art walks

Did you know that campus is home to hundreds of pieces of art? Why not start with the classic and oh-so Instagramable “Garden of the Mind” in the Agriculture and Bioresources building. Stop into Alumni Central for a comprehensive art tour guide.

Location

Agriculture Building, second level atrium

Museum of Natural Sciences

There are several museums and galleries on campus, including the Museum of Natural Sciences in the Geology Building, which houses the fan-favourite T-Rex.

The Diefenbaker Centre

The walking paths by the Diefenbaker Centre have long been a favourite for alumni. It includes the stretch of path leading to the Meewasin Trail, the one-of-a-kind statue and sculpture field, and a picturesque view of the Saskatoon skyline.

Location

101 Diefenbaker Place, across the street (Campus Drive) from Edwards School of Business

A close-up photograph of two hands holding glasses of beer. The glasses are filled with a golden beer, ice cubes, and a slice of lemon. The background is blurred, suggesting an outdoor patio setting.

Louis' pub

You deserve some quality patio time.
Louis' pub has one of the sunniest patios in town. Stop in for a drink and mingle with current students.

Location
93 Campus Drive

Place Riel

Depending when you were on campus, you might remember the days when there were only a handful of places to eat in Place Riel. Following a substantial construction and redesign in 2010, the space has expanded to include an array of tasty eats and services for students, faculty, staff and alumni.

Location
1 Campus Drive

Rainbow Road

Looking for a sweet selfie spot?
Check out this colourful piece of pavement. Installed in 2017, the U of S Rainbow Road reflects the campus commitment to a positive, diverse and inclusive community.

Location

Find it between the Arts Tower and the Murray Library

Gordon Oakes Red Bear Student Centre

The beautiful new student centre is an inclusive intercultural gathering place that brings together the teachings, traditions and cultures of Indigenous and non-Indigenous people of Saskatchewan. Once inside, make sure you look up to see the decorated medicine wheel framing the ceiling and the feature skylight that is inspired by the design of a star blanket.

Location

5 Campus Drive, between the Murray Library and the Arts Tower

Campus Observatory

Stargaze like a pro. Take advantage of the clear night skies this summer by visiting the Campus Observatory, free of charge and open to the public Saturday nights.

Location

Beside Lot 1 near Place Riel
